Claims 1-⁷~~8~~ are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by United States Patent No. 5,460,566 to Joe O. Trahan (Trahan)

Claim 1 of the instant application is read on by Trahan beginning at column 6, line 62-column 7, line 15 and column 7, line 26-30. Wherein Trahan disclose an apparatus for cleaning articles in a fluid and oscillating medium, which comprises a frame; a container having a central axis perpendicular to an article inlet opening in the container and angularly mounted to the frame so that the container's axis is nonperpendicular to a horizontal cross-section of the frame by means of a plurality of opposing parallel compression and tension springs having differing spring rates for enhanced oscillation of the container which holds said articles a means for injecting a cleaning fluid into the container for cleaning the articles contained in the container; a means for oscillating the container within the frame; a means for draining excess debris and cleaning fluid from the articles in the container once oscillation begins; and a means for filtering and recirculating the cleaning fluid from the solid debris back into the container, said filter means comprising a series of filters. A means for injecting a cleaning fluid into the container for cleaning the articles in the container is disclosed at column 7, line 26-30.

As to claim 2, disclosing that an electric motor is attached to the container. The same is disclosed in Trahan, specifically, Trahan discloses: "It is an alternative embodiment to provide an electrical power source at 18 for smaller vibrating abrasive cleaning apparatus." See figure 2 and relevant associated text. Figure 2 also shows the container 26 in mechanical contact with the electric motor.

Art Unit: 1746

As to claim 3, disclosing a frame containing a plurality of integrally connected unitary components of square tubing for facilitating stability of a container, oscillating means and drainage means. The same is identically disclosed at column 8, line 35 et seq.

As to claim 4, disclosing that the container is mounted to the frame by a plurality of opposing parallel compression and tension springs for oscillation of the container. The same is disclosed at column 7, line 19 et seq.

As to claim 5, disclosing that the injection means comprises an intake manifold; and a plurality of injection nozzles horizontally displaced on the intake manifold and over the container for injection of a cleaning fluid into the container to clean the articles contained therein. The same is disclosed at column 7, line 23 et seq.

As to claim 6, disclosing that the drainage means comprises an opening in the container; a reservoir below the opening and containing a plurality of ports; a plurality of nozzles connected to the reservoir and ports and in alignment with the filter means, the same is disclosed at column 7, line 52 et seq.

As to claim 7, disclosing that the filter means comprises a duct leading from the draining means to a first filter; and a duct leading from the first filter to a second filter wherein said second filter contains a circulation pump assembly to circulate the cleaning fluid back into the container through the injection nozzle means.
